

Retail Discount and Campaign Policy

RetailMind AI Knowledge Base Document

Purpose

This document explains discount, campaign, and promotional rules for RetailMind AI customer and business queries.

Discount Types

- Festive campaign discounts are applied during special sale periods.
- Clearance discounts are applied to reduce old or slow-moving inventory.
- Loyalty discounts are available for repeat and premium customers.
- Category-based discounts may be applied to grocery, dairy, personal care, beverages, and snacks.

Discount Conditions

- Discount percentage may depend on product category, inventory level, and campaign budget.
- High discount does not always guarantee high demand; demand should be checked using the forecasting model.
- Products with low stock should not receive aggressive discounts unless clearance is intended.

Campaign Monitoring

- Campaign performance should be monitored using clicks, impressions, conversion rate, ad spend, and revenue.
- Very high ad spend with low conversion rate may be treated as a marketing anomaly.
- Successful campaigns usually show balanced growth in clicks, conversion rate, and revenue.
